	Box 7.1		Preface, & Part 1 , Ts., roneo, pp.A1-A87. Marshall wrote that the journal is a “compromise between a personal diary and a running set of field notes on details which did not fit in elsewhere. My more voluminous and detailed technical data was kept in separate special records – materials on such as linguistics, craniometry, kinship, material culture, and the like, as were data pertaining to my two papers on Polynesian Research Problems and Research Methods.... The page numbers of my field note book are entered in square brackets thus [0154] for the sake of cross reference.” (From Preface .)	Aug-Sep 1951

Regretably, the journal disintegrates into a series of random notes. This relates to the fact that the entire expedition was spent in the city of Papeete, Tahiti, where almost half of my time was spent in revising the manuscript of the book Ra'ivavae . Hence, most of the material in the following journal relates to data collected for the biography of Frank J. Stimson." (p.1)	13 May-20 Jul 1960
