The Program:
A joint initiative between the Australian National University and the Peking University for the exchange of academic staff and postgraduate students, who would like to undertake research in any discipline at the Peking University.

Information for applicants:
> Research can be done in any discipline by both ANU academic staff and postgraduate students in the second half of 2012 under the exchange agreement between Peking University and ANU.

> Successful applicants will be provided with accommodation in Beijing by Peking University, a modest daily living allowance and some access to medical facilities.

> Visits are normally within the range of one to three months, though applications for longer periods would be considered by the selection committee.

> Travel costs to and from China are not paid by the exchange scheme or by Peking University.

Contribution towards Accommodation:
A $250 contribution for each month of an approved visit is required and will be paid to the College of Asia and the Pacific via the Finance Office. The Director or Head of Department will need to approve this.

Applications for Round 1 in 2015 are open and due at CAP Research Services by Friday, 27 February 2015.

Round 2 will be open on Monday, 1 June, with a closing date of Friday, 31 July 2015.

Details of the program and the application form are available at the China Exchange web page
